

A WEALTHY HACK DRIVER'S SUICIDE
LOUISVILLE, Ky., Dec. 23. — George Schoemb, a hack driver, whose wealth is estimated at $50,000, was found hanging to a rafter dead to-day. One of his daughters recently gave birth to an illegitimate child and another was becoming rapidly reckless, while his wife's recent death bore heavily upon him, causing temporary insanity.

The New York Times

Published: December 24, 1885

Copyright © The New York Times